Why work with HRD?

HRD's readership is comprised of strategic HR leaders and CHROs focussed on culture, compliance and capability building which is ideal to promote HR Tech, employee well being platforms and workforce planning solutions. Placing brands with themes like purpose driven culture, future of work and employee sentiment data can help align with high performing narrative rich editorials.

HRD's high value audience is looking to future proof their organisations and people; campaigns offering thought leadership in these areas will resonate strongly and perform well.
